

Anne K. Johnson
Washington State University Vancouver
Department of Sociology
14204 NE Salmon Creek Ave, Vancouver, WA 98686
anne.k.johnson@wsu.edu

EDUCATION

PhD, Sociology, Portland State University, June 2025

Dissertation: “Significant bodily intrusions”: Investigations into law enforcement phlebotomy
[Committee: Emily Fitzgibbons Shafer (chair), Melissa Thompson, Amy Lubitow, Bryan Cwik]

M.A., English, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, May 2018

B.A., Global Studies, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, May 2015

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

2025 – Assistant Professor of Sociology (Career Track), Washington State University Vancouver

FIELDS OF INTEREST

Medical Sociology, Criminology, Law and Society, Qualitative Methods

PEER-REVIEWED PUBLICATIONS

Journal Articles

Johnson, A. K. (2026). “Significant bodily intrusions”: A theoretical exploration of law enforcement phlebotomy and the creation of the patient/suspect. Theoretical Criminology. [Online First.]
<https://doi.org/10.1177/13624806251412854>

Johnson, A. K. (2026). “There’s really no risk of injury”: News coverage of law enforcement phlebotomy & the discursive power of the police perspective. Crime, Media, Culture: An International Journal, 22(1), 145-165.

Masterson, J. E., & Johnson, A. K. (2024). A caring ethic and the rights of the child: Challenges for early childhood education. Early Childhood Education Journal, 52(5), 949-956.

Edited Volume Chapters

Shafer, E., England, P., & Johnson, A. K. (2025). Views of adolescent sex and parent responsibility: Do religiously conservative Christians and Trump voters have a distinctive view? In Blair, S. L., & Sooryamoorthy, R. (Eds.). Contemporary Perspectives in Family Research: Sex and Sexuality within the Family Context, 25-41.

Shafer, E., Johnson, A. K., & Almousa, A. (2025). Addressing advanced degrees: The educational gradient in time spent in childcare for mothers and fathers from 2012-2021. In Blair, S. L., & Madigan, T. (Eds.). Education and the Family: Examining their Interwoven Linkages, 37-60.

MANUSCRIPTS IN PREPARATION

Under Review

Johnson, A. K. Drunk driving: The alcohol problem at the medico-legal borderland. Invited chapter for The Research Handbook on Alcohol and Society, Edward Elgar Publishing.

In Preparation

Johnson, A. K. “Drunk hunters”: Constituting logics of law enforcement phlebotomy.

Johnson, A. K. The NHTSA Law Enforcement Phlebotomy Toolkit & coercive isomorphism.

PRESENTATIONS

- 2025 “Drunk hunters: Constituting logics of law enforcement phlebotomy.” American Sociological Association Annual Conference. Policing Issues, August 10, 2025, Chicago, IL.
- “Gendered heterosexism in attitudes toward teen sex, especially straight cis-men.” American Sociological Association Annual Conference. Open Topic Paper Session on Sex and Gender, August 12, 2025. Chicago, IL.
- 2024 ““Fruit from a poisonous tree?”: Constituting logics of law enforcement phlebotomy.” American Sociological Association Annual Conference. (Did not attend due to illness)
- 2023 ““We always got our blood”: A discourse analysis of news covering law enforcement phlebotomy.” American Sociological Association Annual Conference. Media, Technology, & Crime, August 21, 2023, Philadelphia, PA.
- “Law enforcement phlebotomy in the US: A discourse analysis.” Pacific Sociological Association Annual Conference. Policing and Communities, March 30, 2023, Bellevue, WA.
- 2022 ““Significant bodily intrusions”: Ethical implications of law enforcement phlebotomists.” Portland State University Sociology Spring Lecture Series.

TEACHING

Assistant Professor, Washington State University Vancouver

- 2025 – Sociology of Gender
Sex Matters: Queer Culture and Literature
Sociology of Sex and Relationships
Social Problems
LGBTQ Studies

Instructor, Portland State University

- 2023 – 24 Gender and Sexualities

Instructor, University of Nebraska-Lincoln

- 2017 – 23 Writing as Inquiry
Writing as Argument
Writing and Communities
Writing and Communities, Honors
Introduction to Sexuality Studies

AWARDS & GRANTS

- 2026 ADVANCE at WSU External Mentorship Grant Awardee
- 2025 Honorable Mention in ASA Drugs & Society Section Graduate Student Paper Competition
- 2025 Honorable Mention in ASA Crime, Law, & Deviance Section Distinguished Student Paper Competition
- 2025 Portland State University, Outstanding Graduate Student in Sociology
- 2024 Western Association of Graduate Schools, Regional 3 Minute Thesis Winner
- 2023 Portland State University, 3 Minute Thesis Winner
- 2023 Alpha Kappa Delta, 3rd Place Winner of National Graduate Student Paper Competition

March 2026

2023 Portland State University, Outstanding Graduate Student in Sociology
2021 Portland State University, Dean's Scholarship
2018 University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Teaching Excellence Award

MEMBERSHIP & SERVICE

2026 – Crime, Law, & Deviance Section, Graduate Student Paper Award Committee Member
2025 – Undergraduate Studies Committee Member, Washington State University
2025 – Law & Society Association Member
2024 Portland State University, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Dean's Graduate Teaching Assistant
Model Advisory Group Member
2022 – American Sociological Association Member
2022 – American Sociological Association Member, Drugs & Society Section Member
2022 – American Sociological Association Member, Crime, Law, & Deviance Section Member
2022 – American Sociological Association Member, Medical Sociology Member